Pace and difficulty

Instructor made the course sufficiently difficult to be stimulating.

Instructor required an appropriate amount of work for the credits received.

Instructor taught near the class level.

Instructor paced presentation of material so that students could learn.

Instructor set high but attainable standards for students.

Instructor's high expectations helped me perform to the best of my ability.